I think everybody starts out with a great deal of enthusiasm and then the city wears down your enthusiasm. Their needs usually trump your needs. I was first informed of the planning of the UIS changes by a reporter. He told me that the administration was determined to raise the educational level of the students and that I would be happy with the University. I did not believe him. He was fired for lack of judgment. I was also told that the UIS was being renamed for a reason of its own, presumably economic. My original job (after graduate school) in St. Louis was part-time in a small company that made products for the post office. The Secretary of the Post Office told me that he was going to cut the budget. He would. But he also wanted to give the customers a break. I thought of a can of balls or a piece of cheese to create an at-home delivery service for the entire country. I wanted to research and develop a system that would directly link the customers to the post offices and thereby circumvent some of the problems caused f678ea9f9e
